

As a college age resident of a KLOVE area, this station is priceless to me. The college environment is hard - the pressures of life seem to be bottles into 4 short years: pressure to succum to the temptaions of the world in drinking, cussing, sex, and etc. pressure to figure out what exactly God wants me to do with my life and pressure to make good grades in order to get there. My KLOVE station brings my mind and heart back to the foundational statement of God loves me and has it all under control. I've lived in a town where a godly station was replaced with another chrstian station and I DON'T want that to happen with my KLOVE station. KLOVE focuses everything on God. If a LPFM broadcaster were to replace it, time would be taken up with commercials of the world. My KLOVE radio station (88.9 FM) serves a college town full of lost people seeking fulfillment. It's in my town's best interest to maintain this station so searching students, adult, and families can come to a place that showers God's grace and love upon them simply because God has commanded us to do so for others. The Bible says that the world will know we are Christ's disciples from our love. Keep letting my KLOVE station show the world arounf it God's love and testifying to the fact that they are indeed Christ's disciples.
